"INFORMATION AND CO-OPERATION ACTIONS FOR THE DEVELOPMENT OF INITIATIVES OF JUVENILES DELINQUENTS"

01/11/2001 - 30/10/2003 (24 months)

Thematic area: Inclusion

Since 1987 the Criminal Sciences Department at Aristotle University of Thessaloniki has developed various European and national social inclusion schemes with ex-offenders, juvenile delinquents and youth at risk. This project corresponds to results of a research project in the framework of a LEONARDO pilot project with young prisoners, according to which aspects of their isolated social situation are a lack of communication with the outside world, of informal education and of opportunities to take action against exclusion. This project with 21 researchers, experts and young volunteers in GR, DE, IT and NL aims at providing training and information measures with which young prisoners will be enabled to create activities in the sense of Youth Initiatives as established in YOUTH Action 3.

European Youth Social Inclusion Project

01/03/2001 - 28/02/2002

(12 months)

Thematic area: Inclusion

Raleigh International, a charity organisation founded in 1984, organises various types of volunteer projects in international context. The objective is to give a personal experience to participants as well as a benefit to local communities and charity organisations hosting the volunteers. The Youth Development Programme has a specific role in the framework of activities: young people at risk get the opportunity to participate in overseas projects in multinational volunteer teams.

This project is going to gather 80 young people, youth workers, researchers and experts from public and private sector in 12 EU member states for a European seminar on social inclusion of youth. This event will be prepared in close co-operation with OBESSU, DEF, ICYE and CCIVS, who will organise national consultations in order to identify conference topics and inputs and also the actual participants. Follow-up workshops on national level will ensure the establishing of a European network for action against social exclusion.

Storm : Breaking the barriers

01/03/2002 - 01/10/2003

(19 months)

Thematic area: Inclusion

The People and Work Unit is a British regional non-profit organisation, active in the field of research, evaluation and education projects. Its activities are targeted to young people at risk, homeless and long term unemployed. "Storm - breaking the barriers" is the follow-up of a series of activities previously implemented, and will involve 10 European partners in France, Italy, Spain, Belgium, Ireland, Finland, Greece, Germany and Romania. The project seeks to identify a process, which allows disadvantaged young people to develop a sense of community and European identity. Through the engagement with activities centred on community and identity the participants will develop their social skills and confidence. The project intends to develop an effective strategy for creating access for young people to the YOUTH programme. The project duration will be 19 months.

(24 months)

Thematic area: Inclusion (Arts & culture)

The project is presented by ARTTRAIN- a non profit organisation which is using art as tool in youth work and social work / community education. The aim of this long-term project is to establish a network among different youth workers / associations in Europe which uses art as socio-pedagogical tools. With this project the Danish applicant, together with partners in the United Kingdom, Portugal and France aims to provide a training course for 120 youth workers from the European Union, pre-accession and South-east European countries. The course will be about using art as a tool for working with disadvantaged young people and intercultural understanding. Through network meetings the partners will exchange and develop methodologies. As a first step, the project idea is to have an organisation partner as member of the network in each of the countries involved. The project duration is 2 years.

Integrating Young People from Disadvantaged Backgrounds into EVS: Building on the Experience of Three Flagship Projects

05/03/2001 - 31/10/2002 (19 months)

Thematic area: Inclusion (disadvantaged youth in EVS)

AVSO, the Association of Voluntary Organisations, is a European umbrella for numerous international volunteer service NGOs. Since the very beginning of the EVS Pilot Phase AVSO has taken a major role in preparing and implementing the programme. This project refers to experiences, that member organisations have made with realising three EVS Flagship projects since 1996. The aim is to contribute to the programme's efforts for inclusion of disadvantaged young people into the practice of international project work, in particular into the European Voluntary Service. There will be three core tasks to be carried out: "A Manual of Good Practice" based on past project experience and made for other organisations active in EVS, "Research Project" on the scientific evidence of the impact of volunteer experience for projects and volunteers, "Transfer of Experience" in context with a meeting of local, national and European EVS users with National Agencies.

Empowering Youth Immigrants

01/05/2002 - 01/05/2004

(24 months)

Thematic area: Inclusion (young migrants)

The project is presented by the Youth Association of Cazalla, a youth non-profit organisation involving young people working in the social field on different topics related to disadvantaged youth and immigrants. It uses art and youth information as tools in everyday work. The objective of this long-term project is to enhance the participation of young disadvantaged people in the society and to enhance their confidence building capacities. The project proposes to train trainers working in the field of young disadvantaged people and in particular with immigrants on the youth programme as a tool of social integration. In addition, the project will establish contacts among the participating organisations and will develop a network for future collaboration and transfer of experiences. It is also planned to explore youth information and modern media as a tool of development of youth activities. A CDROM and a web site will be created as an orientation tool for the young people in the labour market. One hundred participants are involved and the participating countries are Spain, Austria, Italy, Greece, Finland, United Kingdom, Estonia, Poland, Romania, the Czech Republic, Slovenia, and Hungary. This project will be implemented over a period of two years.

15/12/2000 - 15/12/2001 (12 months)

Thematic area: Anti-racism

AMARC-Europe is the name of a European network of local community and free radio stations who run programmes by and for migrant groups. In this project member organisations in UK, PT, IE, AT, FI, HU and Slo will prepare a multinational campaign which would contribute to the annual anniversaries on the Sharpeville massacres in South Africa back in 1960. An international steering group, with assistance of technical and training staff, will run various activities with which to enable local groups of young people to produce reports, essays or music to be to be broadcasted on March 21 of each year.

It is hoped to offer a framework in which young people become aware of racism issues, but also feel motivated and supported to bring up their own programme ideas for such an anniversary. An international network of co-ordinators will transform those programmes into one European 24-h-broadcast .

EUROPA JOVEN por la interculturalidad.

01/11/2001 - 31/10/2002 (12 months)

Thematic area: Anti-racism

La "Diputacion Provincial de Almeria" est une entité locale qui regroupe 102 municipalités. Ses compétences constitutionnelles sont la coordination de tous les services municipaux du territoire provincial, le conseil et la coopération juridique, économique et technique des municipalités, la promotion et l'administration des intérêts de la Province.

Partant du constat que de récents événements survenus en Europe directement liés à des actes racistes démontrent la nécessité de créer et renforcer des programmes de prévention en ce domaine, les partenaires (2 Espagne, 1 Italie, 1 Grèce et 1 France) désirent mettre en place un projet de sensibilisation et de participation active pour palier à ce phénomène. Le projet vise à conscientiser les jeunes aux dangers de l'exclusion et à promouvoir chez ceux-ci des valeurs humaines qui favorisent la cohabitation culturelle tolérante et antiraciste entre les citoyens. Le projet s'articule autour de la formation de "jeunes agents pour l'intégration culturelle" qui seront garants d'un travail d'animation sociale qui aura un effet multiplicateur auprès d'autres secteurs de la population. Le programme prévoit également des journées de coopération transnationale, l'organisation d'un forum Internet, la réalisation d'une étude sur les "Mécanismes favorisant la cohabitation interculturelle des jeunes", l'organisation d'un concours et d'une exposition photo et l'évaluation du projet. L'étude réalisée sera publiée et diffusée.

EPTO Peer Training Campaign

01/03/2002 - 01/03/2005

(36 months)

Thematic area: Anti-racism (Peer education)

The Centre Européen Juif d'Information is an international non-profit making association founded in 1991. Following the initiatives of a peer-training programme they set up the European Peer Training Organisation (EPTO), the youth section within the association. In the meantime, the network expanded to arrive with this project application to a level where they intend to develop a European youth information campaign promoting diversity and anti-racism, as well as creating a mentorship and coaching structure to support peer trainers. At the initial stage, this project will involve 46 youth trainers from Belgium, Germany, Spain, France, Greece, Italy, Luxembourg, Netherlands, Portugal, and United Kingdom. As part of the campaign peer trainers from Austria, Ireland, Sweden, Denmark as well as Czech Republic, Hungary, Poland, Romania, Slovak Republic, Slovenia, Estonia, Latvia, Lithuania, Cyprus and Malta will be incorporated, through workshops and coaching sessions. This European campaign will last over a period of 3 years, expected to provide training for more than 1500 people.

(24 months)

Thematic area: Non-formal education

FDCSM, the Fédération départementale des centres sociaux de la Moselle, is a regional umbrella organisation for 30 community centres in Moselle/Lorraine. FDCSM provides training, advice, information and acts as representative towards governmental bodies and European networks. This project is part of a continuous exchange co-operation with project partners in UK, DE and IT. In collaboration with university researchers this projects aims at investigating on training concepts for youth workers dealing with culturally heterogeneous groups of young people. Training tools and concepts shall be developed and be used in train-the-trainer workshops for 26 multipliers, who would then organise workshops for youth workers in their home countries. A benefit analysis shall result in handbook and online documentation in order to spread experiences and know-how on intercultural youth work in the partner countries.

Volunteering in Europe - active citizenship at local level

01/03/2002 - 31/12/2003

(22 months)

Thematic area: Non-formal education (voluntary work, peer education)

The European Federation for Intercultural Learning (EFIL) is a non-governmental, non-profit making, volunteer based international organisation. It is the European umbrella of the AFS organisations that are offering exchanges for students, young adults and teachers in over 50 countries. The partners have experienced during their work that motivation, proper preparation and practical help is often missing from numerous volunteer projects. With this project they intend to improve the situation using the experience of ex-volunteers and the concept of peer-education. This long-term project aims to make volunteering more attractive to more people. The results of training sessions will be summarised in a manual. This project will have duration of 22 months.

EURADIOPHORIA The youth open-access net to surf in the European sea of information

30/03/2001 - 30/03/2002 (12 months)

Thematic area: Youth, media and information

Centro "Italia Europea" (EURIT) is a cultural association in Rome, promoting European citizenship. Special attention is paid to education and youth in. The association organises training, promotes information services, different cultural activities to strengthen European cultural identity. They consider important to include in their agenda 'participation of youth' and their education to politics.

This is what this project offers: involve young people into European activities, and the tool chosen is one where young people are usually interested - a European radio, both traditionally broadcasted (with the co-operation of local radio stations) and through the Internet. The co-ordinators are from IT, BE, AT, DE and ES, but the redaction committees will be formed by young people themselves in the participating countries.

01/09/2001 - 28/02/2003

(18 months)

Thematic area: Youth, media and information (Action 3 - Youth Initiatives)

The PROFONDO project is part of local NGO "Gleisdreieck e.V." offering support and advice to youth initiatives in the region. The motivation for "WAS GEHT" (equiv. "What is possible") refers to the general observation that youth initiatives often struggle in the lack of access to proper information, advice and support for project work. The aim of this project is to prevent grass root youth initiatives from failing in project management matters. "WAS GEHT" wants to offer several low cost support tools being created and elaborated with partner organisations in UK, FR and BG who also work with youth initiatives. This project involves 15 youth workers from those 4 participating countries. They will prepare several new information sources such as web site, book and CD-ROM, followed by various promotion, partner finding, networking and evaluation activities.

(36 months)

Thematic area: Sports as tool for social integration

Le Département des Sports et des Loisirs de la Ville de Charleroi (BE), dénommé aussi La Maison des Sports et Loisirs, entend mener un projet avec trois partenaires (ES,FR,IT) visant à utiliser la pratique du sport chez les jeunes défavorisés - voire pour certains à la limite de la délinquance - comme outil d'éducation informelle en vue de favoriser leur intégration sociale, leur ouverture interculturelle et leur participation à une citoyenneté active. Ce projet impliquera directement 160 jeunes. Après avoir développé l'initiative au niveau local, les 4 groupes entreprendront des échanges entre eux en vue de la mise en place d'un réseau européen permettant de partager leurs expériences et d'initier de nouvelles initiatives.

Thematic area: Sports as tool for social integration (Inclusion)

AFMP is a local NGO being active in the field of social solidarity and promoting equal opportunities with regard to education, training, labour, culture, sports and social care. This project builds on an existing co-operation network of national and regional NGOs in PT, DE, FR, HU and ES. The idea is to develop a training concept, which would promote the participation of socially disadvantaged young people into international projects by using sports. A specified training module will be developed and tested in the framework of a pilot training course with 15 youth workers, who directly work with disadvantaged young people. Back in their local projects they will prepare youth exchange projects with special emphasis on sport activities, followed by a joint evaluation, revision and dissemination of the training module.

Integration of Pre-accession Countries in the European Voluntary Service Programme

08/01/2001 - 19/12/2003 (35 months)

Thematic area: EVS in Pre-accession countries

AVSO, the Association of Voluntary Organisations, is a European umbrella for numerous international volunteer service NGOs. Since the very beginning of the EVS Pilot Phase AVSO has taken a major role in preparing and implementing the programme. This new project relates to the inclusion of the pre-accession countries into YOUTH-EVS and will carry out a set of training and co-operation offers in order to prepare new EVS co-ordinators for their own activities. This will include: identifying and collecting data of potential hosting and sending organisations in EUR18 and pre-accession countries, web based publications on East-West volunteer exchange, regional training events in PL, CZ, EE and BG, a contact making seminar in PL and a East-West Volunteer Fair in HU. Those events are expected to take place in a period of 28 months and involve 60 participants from EUR18, 120 from pre-accession countries and 16 trainers sent by the AVSO member organisations.

Thematic area: EVS in Pre-accession countries

SCI - Service Civil International is a voluntary organisation whose aim is to initiate and co-ordinate voluntary service projects for groups / individuals for long/short term activities.

The proposed project aims to facilitate the collaboration in particular during training programmes among the NGOs in Central -Eastern Europe in order to enable them to participate in the YOUTH Programme on a more equal basis with the European NGOs. The implementation of the project should also result in the consolidation of the new platform for the East -East co-operation, a better understanding of the aims and opportunities offered by the YOUTH programme, qualified trainers being able to assist in different activities, a mutual beneficial co-operation and exchange of knowledge between Eastern and Western NGOs.

The project will be developed in several phases and will be focused mainly in three fields: co-operation, partnerships and networking, training and information.

Thematic area: South East Europe co-operation

AiBi - Associazione Amici dei Bambini - is a humanitarian organisation based in Milan, Italy, aiming at the protection of children rights. Together with partners from Norway, Bulgaria, Romania, Albania, Kosovo and Bosnia, the applicant has presented the long-term project "Youth for Peace". The aim is to promote peace and multicultural dialogue in the Balkan region. In this framework, the objective is to give an opportunity to young people of different ethnic affiliation to actively participate in the creation of the civil society in the region. In this context, the project intends to empower not only the work of local youth centres at local level, but also to intensify the collaboration among them at international level. Therefore, this project foresees to set up a European-Balkan network of youth centres; to create a web site through which the young people can communicate with their peers; to run a distance learning course on IT for youngsters involved in the centres; to implement different youth information activities; to organise a summer camp and an European conference in Balkan region. This project will have duration of 30 months.

Thematic area: South East Europe co-operation

The long-term project entitled "Youth: a rainbow of peace over Europe" (European youth for the overcoming of ethnic barriers in the Balkans) is presented by the Comunita di S. Egidio, based in Rome, Italy. This project, to last 24 months, is the second phase of the movement "Il paese di Arcobaleno" which aims is to promote through cultural and social activities integration of disadvantaged minors and young people in the society. The objective is to combat social exclusion, racism and xenophobia by carrying out different initiatives which involve pupils, minors and young people from different social levels, but in particular from disadvantaged social backgrounds. The activities will be held in 25 cities in 6 countries: Italy, Belgium, Spain, Germany, Albania, and Kosovo. They will be co-ordinated in each city by centres of non-formal education called "school of peace". In each country, each year a national campaign on a different topic will be run.
